TUESDAY MARCH 29.

Before the first of May Uncle Sam will pay the last interest-bearing debt that is in his reach, and will have still a handsome pile of money in the treasury.

A broken steel dagger was found sixty feet below the surface at Sioux Falls, D. T. You can find almost anything in Dakota when a boner is on the trail.

Mrs. Harriet A. Moore sued Moses Hopkins, a millwright, at Rockwood City, Cal., for $230,000 for breach of promise. The jury Friday awarded the plaintiff $75,000.

Ex-Governor Hauser, of Montana, says the loss of cattle in that territory during the past winter will not exceed 25 per cent. in value on an average. This is bad enough, but not as bad as has been stated.

Indianapolis Journal: A Florida letter tells of a woman down there who has two sons, one of whom she named Jefferson Davis, the other Abraham Lincoln. If this woman were permitted to go into politics she would be a mugwump. She has a complete mastery of the mugwump idea of "independence."

In connection with the exercises of commencement week, June 25, 30, this year, the university of Michigan will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its organization. Any former student of the university who desires to receive circulars of information relative to the celebration, should send his address at once to J. H. Wade, of Ann Arbor.

Mr. George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, has added another to his long list of good works by presenting a life sized oil portrait of General Grant to the military academy at West Point, where it is to occupy a conspicuous place in the new Grant hall. The portrait is from the brush of Mrs. Helen Darrah, and is said to be an excellent likeness.

Professor George L. Vose, an expert civil engineer, has in press a work on "Bridge Disasters in America: Their Causes and Their Remedies," which should attract attention. It appears that some forty disasters, caused by defective railroad bridges, occur in the United States every year, and there is good reason to believe that many of the bridges now in use are liable to go down every time a train runs over them.

Beecher's friend, Major Pond, tells this story: A few years ago he visited Battleboro, Vt., in company with Mr. Beecher, and the latter told him that fifty years, before that date he had delivered a Fourth of July oration in that town. He lived two miles away, and the committee gave him the choice between $10 in cash and his expenses. He took the cash and walked to and from Battleboro. That was so much like Beecher that no one can doubt the genuineness of the story.

The Maine house of representatives has concurred in the senate amendments to the house liquor bill, and it has been sent to Governor Bodwell for his signature. It will go into effect in its main features on May 1. The bill makes the penalty on first conviction for selling liquor thirty days imprisonment; prohibits the sale of cider for tipping purposes; makes the payment of a United States tax prima facie evidence of the illegality of liquor, because a druggist is not required to pay that tax for using liquor in compounding medicines, and imposes a penalty on railroad employees for unloading liquors outside of regular stations.

The death of Judge Samuel H. Treat, of Springfield, Ill., and the recent resignation of Judge Samuel Treat, of St. Louis, says the Chicago Journal, leaves in all the federal courts of the country but three judges appointed before the republicans came into power, March 4, 1861. These survivors of the anti-slavery era are judges of the United States courts in their several states. Ogden Hoffman was appointed judge of the United States district court of California by President Millard Fillmore, February 27, 1851. Rensselaer D. Nelson was appointed judge of the United States district court of Minnesota by President James Buchanan, June 1, 1853. Matthew P. Deady was appointed judge of the United States district court of Oregon, also by President Buchanan, March 9, 1859. Judge Hoffman, of California, must have arrived at an advanced age, as when he was appointed to his present office, thirty-six years ago, he had reached his fourtieth year, a lawyer, a publisher and an author. Judge Nelson and Judge Deady are not so old, but are somewhere in the sixties.

The French are discussing a question in morals. A Frenchman in London, from the frequent pawing of his watch, learned that pawnbrokers test the watch by touching an acid to the knob. He inherited 15,000 francs and immediately went to Geneva, where he ordered 200 watches, the cases of copper, heavily gilt, and the knobs of pure gold. They cost him 40 francs each. He went to London and in a few days pawned the 200 watches. The pawnbrokers tested the knobs and advanced him 70 francs on each—a gain of 30 francs over the cost. Then he walked about the streets and dropped the pawn tickets here and there, and the persons who found them, all being his nearest next day and redeemed the watches. Thus the pawnbrokers lost watches. And the dishonest finders of the tickets paid 70 francs for 40 franc watches. As only the dishonest persons who found the tickets were victimized, the French moralists are uncertain whether to condemn the shrewd operator as a swindler.

An extradition treaty has just been negotiated between the United States and Russia, which, it goes into effect,

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

ELUCIDATED ACCORDING TO THE HENRY GEORGE IDEA.

The Land and Labor Question Bound Up Together, and Land Nationalization the Effective Cure for All Economic Ills—A Southern Republican on the Negro Vote—Intelligent Jersey Solons.

Chicago, March 26.—Henry George, the apostle of "The Single Tax," speaks in this city Monday at Central Music hall to about 2,000 people. He stated that the subject of his discussion was the labor question—a question that was not a class question in any sense, but one to which very little attention was being paid. Still he said he predicted that civilization was doomed. Defining his theme, he said the labor question was simply one of too many hands and too little work. Aye, some would say, here is the Malthusian theory. That theory, Mr. George held, was not tenable in a new country like this. Why, others would say, your view of the labor question is readily explained by over-production. "Is not this," the speaker said, amid great applause, "an assertion that what is suffering here because there is too much wealth? So much food is produced that people have to go hungry; so much clothing is manufactured that people must wear their clothes so many years are made that clothes must be discarded. How absurd! Does not all this cry about over-production resolve itself down to the bare fact that what we are suffering from is unjust distribution?"

Having briefly touched upon the pernicious institution of female and children's labor, Mr. George came to speak upon protective tariff. "How absurd!" he exclaimed. "What is the tariff for? For the capitalists? Oh, for the capitalists, yes, but for the people, no. To prevent outsiders from doing our work, and at present we are devising means to keep the foreigners out. Yet the home laborer has to live and suffer under that very protective tariff." Referring again to the cry of scarcity of work, the speaker directly went for the land question. In every great city the population of an ordinary village was often crowded into one block. In the fourteenth ward of this city, he said, with its 30,000 inhabitants, families were often found living in one room, with chalk lines dividing them. Yet two-thirds of the territory of the ward consisted of vacant lots. The whole great west had thousands of miles of unproductive property, and yet people were clamoring for more. Here, Mr. George claimed, was the very heart of the labor question. The speaker protested against the imputation that he had drawn his ideas from California. True, to a certain extent wages went up when the placers were discovered, and men could earn $12 and $16 a day with the most primitive implements. Other wages rose correspondingly, but this was not the result of the discovery of gold. It was because the land was free to all. Suppose gold had been discovered on private property, like gas and oil in Pennsylvania and Ohio. Would that discovery have raised wages? Not much; but it would have created an immense boom in real estate. At the root of all the misery and squalor of today, right in the midst of our centers of civilization, there must be an injustice, and that injustice was the discrimination of our children. Truly, Thomas Jefferson spoke of a self-evident truth. The truth was that the land belonged to the living and not to the dead. There never was a man who had a right to grant away in perpetuity this world or any part of it. For this world was not made for any one generation. Speaking in conclusion, of the method by which equal right to land could be obtained, Mr. George advanced his well-known theory of land for the use of the community such value as was created by the growth of population, not any value created by improvements upon the land. The increase in value of land was something created by the community, hence the increase should be taken for the use of the community. It would not be necessary to rent out the land in order to reach this aim, the latter would far better and easier be reached by taxing the land. After concluding his speech Mr. George was asked a number of questions. The following is one of them and the answer: "Suppose there are two men with $1,000 each. One invests his money in land, the other in stocks. The man who invests in land will be the richer, for the land will increase in value, while the stocks will not. The man who invests in land will be the richer, for the land will increase in value, while the stocks will not."

Antoniating Success. It is the duty of every person who has used Doan's Kidney Pills to let it be known that the pills are known to his friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 50,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the Doan's Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Several Important Bills Considered.

A Railroad Bill Killed in the Senate.

OTHER MATTERS CONSIDERED.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, March 26.—In the senate this morning, the bill was considered in permitting a change of venue on the sworn statement of one of the parties to the suit, on account of prejudice of the judge.

The bill making the maximum passenger fare in the state at two and one-half cents, was introduced. Senator Cooper spoke against the bill, and said he would oppose all such legislation until commerce is more settled under the interstate commerce law; also, because it provided a penalty of fine from $500 to $1,000, and imprisonment for violation of law but it would be impossible to imprison railroad companies.

In the assembly a bill passed fixing the penalty at $100 fine or six months imprisonment for any person to attempt by force or otherwise preventing others from working, also punishing by maximum fine of $1,000 or two years imprisonment any person who shall maliciously injure railroad cars or locomotives and allowing Duluth short line railway to extend its line through Douglas.

James S. Murphy, M. D., Company's Shops, N. O., writes: "I sell a great deal of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for every one who tries it likes it."

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy." Of course! Why those old doctors differed horribly with aches and pains and didn't and couldn't know that Salvation Oil would cure them.

For Scrofula, Impoverished Blood and General Debility. Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, has no equal in the whole realm of Medicine. Read the following: "I gave one bottle of Scott's Emulsion to my own child for Scrofula, and the effect was miraculous."—O. F. GRAY, M. D., White Hill, Ind.

Items of Interest From all Parts of the State.

The Tonsen roller mill will be rebuilt into a factory.

La Crosse has an income of $28,000 from licenses.

The means system to be built in La Crosse will cost $73,000.

Green Lake farmers are engaging men for summer work, paying from $15 to $20 a month.

The residence of John Kuriz in Eau Claire burned, Saturday. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,000.

A real estate boom has struck Ashland, the lot sales alone aggregating $400,000 last week. Buyers are principally Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul parties.

Wauqua has raised the $3,000 necessary, and George W. Mitchell, of Milwaukee, will fulfill his part of the proposition to build a hotel there to cost not less than $11,000.

A bill has passed the senate changing the name of West Branch to Bloom City. This is a much named village. In the last quarter of a century it has been known as Spring Valley, West Branch and Bon.

The Lake View House in Hudson was entirely destroyed by fire, together with large portion of its contents. Loss about $30,000. Insurance from $8,500 to $9,000. The fire broke out in the kitchen and is said to have been caused by the explosion of a lamp.

The Found on Leo fire department, according to official reports, cost the city for the year ending March 24th, 1887, $15,459.52, as follows: Salaries, $4,036.30; incidentals, $2,042.22; extra horses, $400; rental, $9,002.00—$15,459.52. The cost of maintaining the department exclusive of hydrant rental was $6,497.52, about the same as the Janesville department for the same time.

Glanders is reported as raging among the horses in the northern farm camps. The epidemic in the Mark River Falls region. State Veterinarian Atkinson, of Milwaukee paid a visit last week to several of the camps about Hatfield, near Black River Falls. The doctor found several cases of glanders during his visit, and caused two to be killed at once. It is said that the disease will be stamped out before it spreads to any alarming extent.

Another Row in the Jersey Legislature. TRENTON, N. J., March 26.—This was an exciting time in the house of representatives Monday night. A bill was up for the construction of the line of the West Shore railway to the Jersey Central. For a long distance these roads run parallel, and the anti-railroad men opposed it strenuously. After prolonged filibustering Speaker Baird introduced Anti-Monopoly. McDermott for some remarks made in return was told his assertions were "unqualified untruths" and bitterly denounced by McDermott. A motion to suspend McDermott provoked an exceedingly acrimonious debate, during which many invectives were hurled at Speaker Baird, who was elected by the republicans and bolting democrats. The parties were several times at the point of coming to blows, but cooler counsels prevailed and the motion to suspend McDermott being lost, the assembly adjourned. The episode has created great excitement and there are rumors of a personal encounter between McDermott and Baird.

Some Very "Special" Legislation. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 26.—The legislature did little business Monday, but one of the representatives—presumably Kerrick—got off a little joke on Speaker by having a resolution introduced citing an alleged statement of Senator Streator, at a recent Chicago labor meeting, wherein he said that he would vote for the passage of a bill that would compel him to dispose of his property in the hands of the state. The resolution was referred to the committee on fish and game and much laughter.

Staved It Off for a Day. MADISON, March 26.—An attempt was made in the senate Monday night to pass a bill making the maximum passenger railway fare 2 cents per mile, but its consideration will render America an unsafe haven for Russian nihilists who have attempted the life of the czar. The third article of the treaty, which declares that persons charged with political offenses shall not be liable to surrender, expressly stipulates that "the murder or manslaughter comprising the wilful negligent killing of the sovereign or chief magistrate of the state, or any member of his family, as well as an attempt to commit or participate in the said crimes, shall not be considered an offense of a political character."

The clause in the treaty which specifies the crimes that are extraditable is also obviously constructed with a view to the surrender of nihilist agitators who may have taken refuge in the United States, since the last specification declared that "malicious destruction or attempt to destroy railways, trains, vessels, bridges, dwellings, public edifices or other buildings, when the act endangers human life," is an offense for which extradition may be demanded.

Secretary Manning, in his annual report estimated the revenue from tariff taxes for the current year of $210,000,000. The amount actually collected to the end of last week was something more than $164,000,000. During the corresponding period last year the amount collected was about $136,100,000, out of a total of nearly $193,000,000 for the whole year. Should the collections during the remainder of the year be no more than they were during the same time last year, the total for the year would be $211,000,000 or a million more than the secretary's estimate. But probably the collection during the remainder of the year will exceed those for the same time last year. Each of the past four months shows a gain of about $2,000,000 over the corresponding month last year. Should the gains continue the same to the end of the year, the total would exceed $218,000,000. This is a larger amount than has been derived from this source in any other year except 1883, when it was $220,400,000. In 1883 the total was $214,700,000. In 1871 it was $200,300,000, and in 1872 it was $200,400,000. In no other years have the tariff taxes produced $200,000,000 of revenue. It is chiefly because of the increased receipts from this source that the 3 per cent. bonds are likely to be paid off by the 1st of July, instead of the first of October, as estimated by Mr. Manning.

BULLETINS.

—What miled the opera house music last night?

—Has spring been postponed on account of the weather?

—The latest definition of a telegram is: "Blashed from pole to pole."

—What slender sight is there than a chubby little dandy in a prematurely donned spring suit?

—Mr. R. A. Bruns, has disposed of his billiard tables to the Business Men's Association.

—The Janesville young ladies that have been attending school at Madison and Rockford returned home to-day.

—Don't forget the entertainment and fair to be given by W. H. Sargent Woman's Relief Corps, at Post hall, Wednesday, April 3rd.

—Calbraith Bros. have received a dispatch, stating that the steamship Cora, is not yet reported. She is not expected until to-day or to-morrow.

—If you want to see a sight call in Reimbrod's drug store and see the gold fish. He has just received hundreds of them and some very large ones.

—This morning the Badger Soap company made an assignment to O. B. Conrad. No definite statement of the assets and liabilities can yet be made.

—The funeral service of the late John Frost occurs to-morrow at one o'clock, p. m., at the home in the Fourth ward, Rev. Thomas Walker officiating.

—Alexander McClellan, of La Prairie, was out in the hand by another farmer about four o'clock this afternoon. The two had been having trouble over an unpaid bill.

—Low Brown has received orders to pack up his stock and ship everything to Hornesville, New York. The firm expects to put him in charge of a new branch store in that city.

—Two more warrants were served on L. N. Williamson this morning. Both were sworn out by Secretary Morgan, of the Wisconsin State company. The cases have all been postponed until April 11th.

—"Michael Strogoff's" baggage was attached by the managers of the Opera house at Milwaukee, because (the company cancelled a date at that house in order to play at the New Academy. Donda were furnished and the engagement went on without interruption.

—The mission which commenced last night, at St. Patrick's church, will continue tonight through Tuesday evening. Mass at 8:30, 7:00, 5:30, 4:30 and 3:00 a. m. Sermon at the late mass. Several visiting priests are in attendance, and the exercises are of the order appropriate to the season of Lent, and the approach of Easter.

—Mr. M. T. Riker, who has been connected with the harness business of Mr. Sadtler, on Main street for several months, has been engaged by Mr. Sadtler to take entire charge of his business. Mr. Riker has long enjoyed the reputation as a fine workman. He also possesses good business ability and will be a valuable assistant to Mr. Sadtler, who is afflicted with almost total blindness.

—The horse that Governor Rusk bought in Janesville is attracting much attention. One correspondent says: The governor was out yesterday and made a commanding appearance, sitting his animal as gracefully as though he did not weigh in the neighborhood of 2,000 pounds. As he centered around the capital park his handsome appearance attracted much attention and those who had forgotten his early training among horses as a stage driver and his later service on horseback on bloody southern battlefields wondered when he had acquired such masterly equestrianism.

—A "Pair of Kids" proved to be an excellent hit. It has been played here so often that no details need be given, but one thing is certain, no better pleased audience than last evening's, ever gathered in Myers opera house. Ezra F. Kendall is not in humor! In "Viles Buttocks" he created a character that in the most solemn it is impossible to withstand. The old farmer in New York has been the basis for plays innumerable, but nowhere is there an actor who can equal Kendall in the especial field afforded by "A Pair of Kids". His success does not lie in what he says but in how he says it, and every movement brings forth a burst of applause. He is supported by a very fair company. Miss Dunn especially, or rather Mrs. Kendall, is a very clever little actress and sings like a lark. She and her brother fairly took the house by storm.

—The Gazette is not in favor of a fusion ticket at the municipal election. Mr. Winslow has made a good mayor, but the republican party is not desirous of good material, and so long as political lines are recognized in our city elections, the republican party has no occasion to go outside of her own borders for candidates. The people's ticket so-called means pure and unadulterated democracy. The republicans have plenty of good men, as radical as the question of water works as Mr. Winslow and the party as a party are not fanatical. The caucus on Thursday night should be well attended and men put in nomination who will command the vote of the party.

TALK AROUND TOWN.

High Toned Boxers—The Hard Winter—A Millionaire's Secret.

"Some of these quiet looking fellows around town are bad men to tinkle," remarked the young man who is somewhat of a boxer, himself. "While Johnny Manning was here he used to give lessons to men that looked as though they wouldn't melt in their mouth. And when I saw some of these easy-going chaps could hit. Ward, the ball player, used to be one of them, and the new comers always picked him up for a sucker. They never bothered him much after the first time, though. It was about the same with some of the boys that are around now. Manning's class included a doctor, a druggist, two bankers, a lawyer and quite a number of other prominent people."
